A sense of belonging and connectedness can be tough to maintain when working apart.

That's especially true in large, globally dispersed organizations, where remote work threatens alignment and collaboration the most.

Uniquely designed for large, remote working teams of up to 200 participants, our AllStars Recharge reunites co-workers once more to reignite motivation and reveal the answers to your most critical challenges.

Our professional AllStars facilitators will help you:

- Understand the scope of your company's challenges – from all perspectives
- Unlock organization-wide communication and unblock silos, for improved alignment
- Generate solutions that everyone wants to implement, as well as the motivation and ownership to drive results.

Developed exclusively to maximize large-group collective intelligence in an online setting, our AllStars Recharge helps you solve your most critical challenges and explore new opportunities in just a few hours.

Program Details

Who is it for?

Our AllStars Recharge has been specially created and successfully implemented with:

- Entire organizations of up to 200 co-workers, and
- Globally- and regionally-dispersed remote working teams.

The program

Every Recharge meeting is designed with your key question or challenges in mind, as well as the number of participants taking part. They involve:

- Creating the ideal online conditions for large-group engagement and collective intelligence.
- Empowering your dispersed teams and co-workers with a renewed sense of shared purpose and togetherness.

We will:

- Help you isolate and understand your organization's key challenges from multiple perspectives, through cross-functional working groups.
- Explore strategic opportunities and solutions as one company, united.
- Generate practical, viable answers, along with the ownership and drive to enactment them.

We will be working with:

- Remotely dispersed, medium- to large teams of 40-200 participants.
- Strategic cross-departmental working groups.
- Zoom® online collaboration software or the software of your choice.

Playing field

An AllStars Recharge session or sequence is designed especially for online environments. The duration, agenda, and other key considerations of your Recharge cater to your organization's size, sector, and strategic challenges.

We use any online collaboration platform of your choosing, and all sessions are conducted in a purely virtual environment.
